Water-Wise Irrigation, Hardscapes &

Mother Nature continues to conspire against the local ski resorts and our thirsty plants by offering no precipitation in months! So it's up to you to provide water to your landscape. Water all your plants now - lawn, trees, shrubs, perennials, etc. - especially those that are newly planted and in more exposed areas.

For trees and shrubs three years and older, apply the water under the drip line and not at their base near the trunk. To survive and thrive, all plants need water every three to four weeks during our current dry weather. When temperatures turn much colder, water once a month when the ground is not frozen and clear of snow.

Watering will need to be done by hand - so keep your hoses accessible. Plants in the ground, especially newly planted trees, shrubs and perennials, need the equivalent of one inch of precipitation per month. Plants in containers need more since they dry out faster.

- Mulch perennial beds and roses with 2-4 inches of Gardner & Bloome Soil Building Compost if not yet done.

For planting success, we recommend using these three products when planting or transplanting all plants: Superthrive, Gardner & Bloome Soil Building Compost and Dr. Earth Life Fertilizer.

- Apply Bonide's All Seasons Horticultural and Dormant Oil Spray to trees and shrubs to prevent insects & bacteria. Use according to directions.
- Start seeds for early spring annuals requiring a long lead time before being set out in the garden.
- Continue to supply fresh water in a heated bird bath or add a de-icer to a frost-proof bird bath to ensure a steady supply of water.
- Feed orchids with GrowMore Orchid Food weekly, all year long.

"Pesticides"

Tips from Plant Doctor Jon

Winter is the best time to check your lawn and garden chemical supply. Optimal storage conditions include temperatures between 55 to 75 degrees Fahrenheit, no exposure to sunlight and low humidity. Most pesticides have a shelf life of at least two years if their storage has met these conditions. In Nevada, we regularly experience temperatures outside those ranges, so the shelf life will be shorter. Click here to read the rest of Jon's article.

Bird of the Month: Spotted Towhee:

Plantskydd keeps rabbits away from lawns and other areas of your garden by a combination of both taste and smell.

Bonide All Seasons Spray Oil and Bonide Systemic Houseplant Insect Control

Dr. Earth Final Stop Yard & Garden Insect Killer

Spotted towhees are smaller than a robin, about 8 inches. Like many songbirds the male has striking plumage. His head and upper parts are black. They have a thick pointed, black bill, and fire red eyes. The sides are rufous, and the breast and belly are white. White spots stand out on the black back, and wings. The long tail is black with large white spots at the corners which are visible in flight. The female is similar, but has brown where the male has black.

Spotted towhee's main diet is seeds but they also eat insects and fruit. Although they do search for food in trees they mainly forage on the ground. They scratch the ground by kicking both feet backward at the same time to uncover food. These birds prefer to forage in bushes with leaves on the ground, making quite a racket as they rustle through the leaves. If you have a seed feeder near bushes towhees may search for seeds fallen, or sprinkled on the ground.

Their song is a long buzzy chweeee. In some areas the bird is called a chewink because of the sound of their alarm. Other sounds are shenk, chup-chup zedededee, and a cat-like meow call.

Seeds for 2012 are here with more arriving weekly

New this year are Baker Creek Heirloom Seeds - they'll be arriving mid-month.

Grow these pure seeds for better tasting and more nutritional foods for your family. The open pollinated varieties can often contain almost twice as much protein as the new hybrids.

NEW GREENHOUSE PLANTS ARRIVING WEEKLY

Choose from bloomers to succulents and everything in-between to spruce up your home or office with a living plant for a happy, healthy New Year. The natural beauty of plants is soothing and can even brighten your spirits. Indoor plants provide humidity and many clean the air of indoor pollutants, including Mother-in-Law's Tongue pictured here.

If houseplants are new to you, fear not! There are many varieties you can grow successfully with little effort . . .

from mother-in-law's tongue and cactus to sculpture-like succulents (shown here in a Container Garden) and cast iron plants. We'll help you make the right selection for your space and lighting.

Keep Truckee Meadows Beautiful's Annual Christmas Tree Recycling runs until January 16, 9am-5:00pm with a $3.00 donation.

Bartley Ranch Regional Park, Rancho San Rafael Regional Park, and Shadow Mt. Sports Complex in Sparks. Remove all tinsel, ornaments, lights, wooden stands, etc. Flocked trees, wreaths and other yard waste will not be accepted. While providing the community with a convenient means to dispose of cut Christmas trees, this program also preserves landfill space, limits illegal dumping, improves air quality through reduced green wood burning, provides mulch for area park and open space projects and models effective conservation practices for our present and future.
